PCCD Appoints New Director to the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention

Harrisburg – Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency Chairman Mark R. Zimmer announced today the appointment of a new director of the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

John G. Frain, who has more than 15 years of proven leadership experience, as well as a keen understanding of the juvenile justice, child welfare and behavioral health systems, will oversee this office within the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency (PCCD).

“John Frain brings the experience, enthusiasm and energy needed to head this office,” Zimmer said. “John has a wealth of experience to draw upon in his new role overseeing the office.”

Frain, of White Oak, has solid leadership abilities in working cooperatively with officials to create innovative services that meet local, county and state strategic and policy needs.

For the past 19 years, Frain has worked for Wesley Spectrum Services where he held leadership positions in a variety of programs. Most recently, for the past two years, he served as a service line director where he oversaw Wesley Spectrum’s In-Home Programs, Outpatient Mental Health and Drug and Alcohol Programs, Family Based Mental Health program, and the Foster Care and Adoption Programs.

Frain earned his bachelor’s degree in administration of justice and master’s degree in criminal justice from Shippensburg University and a master’s degree in community counseling from Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

He is also a Pennsylvania licensed professional counselor and a nationally certified balanced and restorative justice trainer.
